

Organized by Ghent University with the support of the European College of Veterinary Public Health

Online biosecurity training

26 & 30 April 2021

5, 10 & 12 May 2021

Prevention is better than cure!

The Biocheck team of Ghent University is organizing an online training on biosecurity in livestock production, with the support of the ECVPH.

The training consists of five morning sessions (9.00-12.30 CET) and can be added to your residency program for the ECVPH college.

Program

26 April: The five principles of biosecurity

30 April: Practical implementation of external biosecurity measures

5 May: Practical implementation of internal biosecurity measures

10 May: Quantification of biosecurity on farm-level and virtual farm visit

12 May: Evaluation and discussion

Register now

Residents of the ECVPH college can join for free. A fee for the entire program of €250 is asked for non-residents.

The Biocheck.UGent team